Oregon's "Flower Valley Seeds" are Best

TO OUR CUSTOMERS and FRIENDS:

The past year's business that we have had from you, has more than made us happy, and we want to take this opportunity to thank you and to also salute you with the New Year and with the same thankfulness that we have in the past.

This year we greet you with a new catalog, in which we have tried to give you the important varieties as they are known to you, with the number of seeds per ounce, etc. But we do want you to be sure to order enough seed.

There are many varieties that are short this year, and while we have made every effort to get the varieties that are most important to your business; and this year we are of the opinion that the GROWER who makes a specialty of the WAR and DEFENSE GARDENS will be the one that will sell out. DO NOT lose sight of the fact that the home gardener who is growing a defense garden will also buy flower plants as well, that is the gardener who has not had a garden until this emergency has come up. So, while you are making a greater effort for vegetable plants, do not forget your flower plant business.

In the event that we can help you with any of your growing problems, do not hesitate to call on us.

Again thanking you for past business and awaiting your further pleasure, we are —

Cordially yours,

The Oregon Florists' Seed Company

Cottage Grove, Oregon

The Latin and Greek

In our catalog we have many of the botanical names in Latin and Greek, because of the fact that our business is an international business with world wide connections. Whatever nationality the seed seller or seed buyer may be, he will understand the Latin and Greek botanical names. Without an international language, seedsmen in all parts of the world would not know what they were buying, in other words, these names in Latin and Greek tell the botanical structure of the plant and also the colors are made known. Coccineum is known as scarlet, Grandiflora—large flowered, and Pumillium—small or small flowered. Nana—dwarf, Minimum—smallest. Semperflorens—everblooming, etc.
